Free Course: Climate Change and Renewable Energy

Chicago Community Mennonite Church will offer Climate Change and Renewable Energy – Our Scenarios, a free seven-session course, on Sundays at 11:00 a.m. starting January 26.

Participants will receive up-to-date information on climate change and renewable energy options to inform sensible, cost-effective energy decisions, and guidance in setting goals and making action plans. Attention will be given to ways to overcome a variety of hurdles to more adequately face a growing planetary crisis. The course will include opportunities for guided research on areas identified by participants.

WHEN: 11:00 a.m. to noon, Jan. 26, Feb. 9, Feb. 23 and March 9, 16, 23 and 30, 2014

WHERE: 425 South Central Park Blvd., near the Garfield Park Conservatory on Chicago's west side.

The class will be offered as an education hour option following the 9:00 a.m. worship service of Chicago Community Mennonite Church.

Duane Ediger, presenter, is a member of the Midwest Renewable Energy Association, the Illinois Solar Energy Association and the Climate Reality Leadership Corps, a Deacon of First Church of the Brethren of Chicago, and an apprentice site assessor and installer of solar photovoltaic energy systems.
